REPUBLICANS BAR BILBO IN SENATE

DRIVE BEGUN TO WIPE OUT EXCISE TAXES

CONGRESSMEN ACT TO HELP FUR AND
JEWELRY TRADE

BY FRANCIS M. LE MAY

Washington, Jan. 4 (P)—A drive to put into effect immediately most of the excise tax cuts scheduled for July 1 was launched today at the capitol.

Congressmen expressed the view that otherwise the fur, jewelry and luggage businesses will be hard hit as people hold off buying until July 1 in anticipation of lower prices.

Rep. O'Toole (D-N. Y.) drafted a bill for introduction Monday to reduce these excises forthwith to the levels where they will fall automatically July 1. He commented that the six-month lag in the tax rollback is "wrecking some businesses."

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.) of the tax-framing ways and means committee told reporters he will take up the matter of an immediate excise cutback at the first committee meeting next week.

"We owe it to the country to do something about this situation immediately," he said.

Quick Cut Favored

Rep. Woodruff (R-Mich.), another committee member favoring a quick tax cut, commented that "something's got to be done immediately."

The cutback in the excise war rates occurs automatically July 1, under the 1943 revenue act, because of President Truman's proclamation ending hostilities Dec. 31. This includes a slash in the liquor tax from $9 to $6 a proof gallon. The overall rollback would mean a $1,500,000,000 annual saving to consumers.

For furs, jewelry, luggage and cosmetics the rollback will mean halving of the levy, from 20 per cent to 10 per cent. A quick cutback would mean further material easing of the tax load this year.

Some members set "sights at reducing immediately those excises where business hardship would be caused by buying resistance in waiting for a July 1 cutback. Some said they could see no point in speeding up the reduction on such other things in the excise list as liquor, light bulbs and theater admissions.

Meanwhile Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the ways and means committee issued a statement intended to bolster his No. 1 House bill for a 20 per cent slash in individual income taxes, or a $3,500,000,000 reduction in the tax load, in 1947.

He cited tax reductions made by Republican congresses in the 1920s, arguing that lower rates had encouraged business and thereby actually increased revenue collections.

Bolt From Cannon Coughed Up By Boy

Detroit, Jan. 4 (P)—Fifteen-year-old Johnny Nielsen's homemade cannon backfired Dec. 23 and a half-inch bolt sealing one end struck him in the stomach.

The Brown City, Mich., high school student noticed a skin wound in his abdomen and found no trace of the bolt.

Four days later he coughed it up.

Attendants at Detroit osteopathic hospital said the piece of metal apparently entered the stomach lining, eventually working its way into the stomach.

The youth is recovering nicely, the hospital added today.

SENT BACK SOUTH—Senator Theodore Bilbo (D-Miss.) is shown leaving his office with Capitol policeman Sgt. Harley Hilton, assigned as a bodyguard. Bilbo is charged with misusing his office for personal gain in dealings with war contractors and with violating federal statutes by pressuring negroes from voting. Handicapped in his speech by the loss of his lower teeth, the ailing Bilbo immediately headed back south for a new cancer operation.

Armed Revolt Plot Nipped In Budapest

BY JACK QUINN

Budapest, Jan. 4 (P)—Communist Minister of the Interior Laszlo Rajk said today 55 persons had been seized in connection with a plot to overthrow the government and re-establish the regime of Adm. Nicholas Horthy by an armed revolt to be touched off the moment Russian troops leave the country.

Anti-Communists, immediately charged that the plot was a Communist "frameup" designed to dispense with the opposition and entrench the present political order for the time when the Russian occupation troops depart.

Rajk said the plot was engineered by a "committee of seven,"

ARMY AND NAVY UNITY OPPOSED

Truman's Proposal To Have Rough Going In Senate Committee

Washington, Jan. 4 (P)—Shoals of strong opposition in the new Senate armed forces committee confront President Truman's proposal to merge the Army and Navy in a single department, soundings disclosed today.

Of the seven Republicans listed for the committee which would handle the legislation, Senators Robertson (Wyo.) and Bridges (N.J.) expressed flat opposition and only Senator Wilson (Iowa) favored it.

The other four, including chairman Gurney (S.D.), told a reporter they are "open-minded" on the issue. Of these, however, Senators Saltonstall (Mass.) and Morse (Ore.) were members of the Naval committee which blocked the legislation last session. And Senator Baldwin (Conn.) served in the Navy in World War I and had two sons in the Navy in World War II.

"It looks as if we have a majority against the merger plan right now," Robertson remarked.

Mr. Truman has announced he will renew his merger recommendations at this session. He tried repeatedly last session to get Democratic majorities in Congress to approve his plan for abolishing the present War and Navy departments, setting up a new department of national defense under a single civilian cabinet secretary, and giving the land, sea and air forces equal status.

The Senate Military Committee approved the plan but the Navy boosters protested the plan would six of whom were under arrest. The committee had at its disposal "several" disassembled airplanes and had established an "underground chief command" for the armed uprising, he added.

Yesterday a prominent cabinet minister who declined to be quoted by name said 43 persons had been arrested on charges of plotting to establish a "democratic military dictatorship, dispensing with the national assembly."

He said the information would be filed with the state's attorney and that trials of the accused would be held within a week.

Rajk's announcement came a week after Josef Bognár, minister of information, had disclosed that "many persons" had been arrested in what some informants described as a Communist-sponsored purge of politicians and army officers favoring a western version of democratic government.

Rajk asserted that "the date set for the revolt was the day set for the signing of the peace treaty or the moment of the departure of the Red army."

Seventy-eight-year-old Horthy, regent of Hungary for 14 years, was released a year ago from jail at Nuremberg, where he had been held as a possible prosecution witness for the international military tribunal. He was last reported living on an estate near Munich.

Housing Hopeful;
Now Homes 200,000
Short Of The Goal

Washington, Jan. 4 (P)—An estimated 1,000,000 new dwelling units were started in 1946, Hous-Ex-Convict In Jail Says ing Expediter Frank R. Creedon announced tonight—200,000 short of Wilson Wyatt's goal.

Creedon estimated that 665,000 dwellings were completed during the year. His predecessor, Wyatt, had set no specific goal for completions.

Creedon reported sizeable increases in the output of building materials, ranging from 50 to 100 per cent above the level of a year ago, give an "encouraging" outlook for 1947.

"More privately financed new permanent homes and apartments were begun during the first eleven months of 1946 than in any full year since 1928," Creedon said.

CABLE WORKERS LOST

London, Jan. 4 (P)—The Great Northern Telegraph Company announced tonight that 16 crew members were missing in the sinking of the company's ship, Karla, which struck a mine while on cable repair work in the open sea southwest of Finland. Twenty others were landed safely at Tallinn.

Informed of the drug angle, Hemming said upon his return from Cleveland where he was taken into custody:

"We got drunk and took off. She was not drugged."

BARUCH QUILTS U.S.A. ATOMIC COUNCIL POST

DIPLOMAT SEES NO REASON TO QUIT MAKING BOMBS

Washington, Jan. 4 (P)—Elder Statesman Bernard M. Baruch, completing the job that he once said might close out his public career, resigned tonight as United States member of the United States Atomic Commission. In a letter to President Truman he said there is no reason why the United States should not continue to make atomic bombs.

Baruch expressed his view on continued manufacture of the bomb, which is contrary to Russia's urging to outlaw the weapon promptly in his letter of resignation to the president.

Mr. Truman, accepting the resignation, wrote that at first he was reluctant to let Baruch go but he finally agreed that from here on, American atomic representation at the United Nations should be centered in Warren R. Austin, member of the security council. That was what Baruch proposed.

American Plan Adopted

In resigning, Baruch acted promptly after the United Nations atomic commission had adopted, under his constant pressure, the main essentials of the American plan as its own. The commission finished its work a few days ago and the whole vast issue of atomic control and disarmament moved directly into the security council.

Austin, former Republican senator from Vermont, has been designated by Mr. Truman to be the American member of the council and is slated to be nominated to the Senate next week. Prompt confirmation is expected.

Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke issued a warrant charging the 61-year-old Utica, Mich., auto dealer with obstructing justice by preventing enforcement of gambling laws.

Havel waived examination and was released on personal bond to await appearance in circuit court.

The ex-sheriff was a witness against William H. McKeighan, former Flint, Mich., mayor, Arthur P. Sauve, indicted as a slot machine operator, and Danny Sullivan and Lincoln Fitzgerald.

The indictment against Havel named McKeighan and Sauve as co-conspirators, but not defendants.

The Dehnke grand jury is seeking the return of McKeighan from Florida and Sullivan and Fitzgerald from Nevada to face gambling charges.

Judge Dehnke's warrant did not accuse Havel of accepting bribes. In an affidavit to the grand juror, however, Havel admitted accepting $15,000 in campaign contributions from 1932 to 1944, alleging that it came from McKeighan and Sullivan.

Havel was elected twice, in 1936 and 1940, as sheriff. Until recently he served as Utica police chief.

MISSING CO-ED STORY CHECKED

Ex-Convict In Jail Says
Girl Was Drunk And Not Drugged

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 4 (P)—Two law enforcement agencies will seek Monday the answer to this question in fashionable Upper Arlington's case of the coed and the ex-convict.

Was an attractive young woman under the influence of a drug when she disappeared for two days with the errant father of a girl friend?

Chief Frank Cary of the suburb, in which the families of the two live, and prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett of Franklin county (Columbus) tonight postponed their questions for the weekend while they pursued other undisclosed angles of the affair.

The principals were back in Columbus, but under sharply contrasting circumstances.

Mary Virginia Kimberly, 20-year-old daughter of an Ohio State university professor, was abed under a physician's care. After a two-day tour in the company of a girl friend's father, she rushed into her own father's arms late yesterday and cried:

"This will have to come about by treaties and agreements between the individual countries and the United Nations," he said in an interview. We shall need information on how many troops the members have and work out a system for supplying forces to the United Nations to assure peace and security.

"It also would be inadvisable to start cutting down on arms until the peace treaties are signed. And the control of atomic energy must be given prior consideration."

Lansing Attorney,
Edmund Shields Ill

Lansing, Jan. 4 (P)—Edmund C. Shields, 75, former national Democratic committeeman and University of Michigan regent, was reported "seriously ill" at University Hospital in Ann Arbor, by friends here today.

The reports said Shields, a prominent Lansing attorney, has been confined at the hospital for a week.

CIVIC LEADER DIES

Detroit, Jan. 4 (P)—Luman Webster Goodenough, well-known Detroit attorney and civic leader, died today in Winter Park, Fla.

High Waves Pound Hawaiian Islands; Homes Evacuated

Honolulu, Jan. 4 (P)—Gigantic waves racing before a distant mid-ocean storm caused hundreds of thousands of dollars in damage to the Hawaiian Islands today, and their peak was still to come.

No casualties had yet been reported through hampered communications, but lowland residents fled in flight, recalling the disastrous seismic sea wave which killed 173 persons and injured 291 in the islands last April 1.

Today's waves, wreaking havoc on beach homes, highways, breakwaters and communications lines, was entirely storm-born.

Higher-than-normal waves have hammered the windward shores for two days. They reached a destructive high shortly after last midnight, and the Coast Guard warned that still greater intensity could be expected at high-tide time during the afternoon.

As this period passed with no new damage reported, the Coast Guard predicted that the next danger period would come at high tide Sunday morning, about 2:30 a.m. (8 a.m. EST).

The Army and Navy ordered local commanders to give all assistance in evacuating residents from any danger zone.

The Navy reported all ships in harbors were secure and that no ships at sea had reported any difficulty.

At Hilo, on the island of Hawaii, the waters rushed into the ground floor of the Puamiale hospital and wrecked outlying homes of hospital personnel.

Two hundred patients spent the night and morning crowded into an upper-story wing without water or electricity. Police and military personnel managed to open a path to the hospital at noon and started removing the frightened refugees to safe ground.

Hilo was in the direct path of the waves, which smashed in from the northeast and raced inland as much as 1,000 yards.

Hilo was ravaged April 1 by a seismic sea wave which took 173 lives and injured 291 persons throughout the islands.

Honolulu and famed Waikiki beach, on the southern side of Oahu Island, noticed no effects of the storm except for rain squalls and seudding clouds.

On the windward sides of the islands, beach residents said that after two days of heavy seas, the waves reached an unprecedented height about 10 p.m. Friday and continued to advance until after midnight.

BUTTER DICKERS CALLED ILLEGAL

Criminal Charge Names
Dairyman's League
For Price Fixing

New York, Jan. 4 (P)—The government charged today in a criminal information that the Dairyman's League Cooperative Association, Inc., its president, Henry H. Rathbun, and three members of the executive committee manipulated the price of butter on the New York mercantile exchange for five days last month.

The information specifically charged violation of a section of the United States code, known as the commodity exchange act. It provides that any person who manipulates or attempts to manipulate the price of any commodity in interstate commerce is guilty of a misdemeanor.

The charges stemmed from the drop of ten cents a pound in the wholesale butter price on Dec. 26 after organized support by dairy interests was withdrawn.

After the price break, the league said it supported butter prices by purchases at levels that would keep the New York price to producers for milk in January at $5.46 per hundred pounds as at present.

The younger man studied electronics at a Detroit institute and used to commute in company with his stepfather, an employee of a Highland Park, Mich., auto plant.

Hearing shots, Mrs. Bucklin climbed through a window of the bedroom and ran to the home of a neighbor.

Hubbell said Pomeroy served in the army before the war and in the navy during the war. He had a medical discharge from the latter, the officer said.

LOCAL ENGINEER DIES SUDDENLY

Henry L. Rose Stricken
On Train Enroute To Home In Escanaba

Henry L. Rose, 63, of 1102 Stevenson avenue, locomotive engineer for the C. & N.W. railway, died suddenly last night on the Ishpeming train while enroute to his home in Escanaba. Death was ascribed to a heart attack by Coroner Kevill Murphy, who with Dr. J. J. Walsh was called as the body arrived in Escanaba.

Mr. Rose was born Dec. 7, 1883, at Racine, Wis. He leaves a widow, Ella; one daughter, Dora Mae, at home; three married daughters by a former marriage, Evelyn, Anita and Helen Joy; his mother, Mrs. Mary Rose, 521 South 14th street; a brother, Clarence Rose, of the same address; and a sister, Mrs. Robert Franson, Canoga Park, Calif.

The body was taken to the Anderson funeral home and will lie in state beginning at 3 p.m. Monday.

UPPER HOUSE TAKEN UNDER GOP CONTROL

federal statutes by preventing negroes from voting.

Bilbo, described by Dr. George W. Calver, the Capitol physician, as suffering from a cancerous ailment, told a reporter immediately after the senate acted that he is not giving up his fight for a seat.

"If I live, I'll be back here with my fighting clothes on," Bilbo declared.

Bilbo said he had been assured that his pay and that of his office staff, headed by John J. Lumpkin, will go on just as if he were officially a member of the new senate.

Senator Hoey (D-N.C.), one of a group of southerners who had been demanding that Bilbo be given the oath of office and tried later, said it is his understanding the Mississippian will be given an opportunity to speak in his own behalf in the senate, even if he is not seated on his return.

Loses Part Of Jaw

The dramatic break in the Bilbo case came after senator Republicans, headed by Senator Taft of Ohio, had voted to keep the body in session continuously until they could force a showdown vote.

Throughout the afternoon, cloakroom conferences were held seeking a compromise. These finally came to a head when Barkley interrupted Senator Ellender (D-La.), who had held the floor most of the day in Bilbo's defense, with the request to make a statement.

When the crowded senate and jammed galleries fell silent, Barkley told his colleagues solemnly that Bilbo faces the possible removal of a large portion of his jaw, two glands in his throat and a malignant growth in his cheek.

Barkley then obtained the unanimous agreement that Bilbo's credentials remain "without prejudice and without action" until either the capitol physician certifies Bilbo is able to return, or congress decides there should be a statement.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said the compromise "has the unanimous approval of senators on this side of the aisle (Republicans)."

Bilbo would draw the pay of a senator and his office staff would be paid until the senate finally acts. But he would not be entitled to vote.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said the compromise "has the unanimous approval of senators on this side of the aisle (Democrats)."

Bilbo had declined to accept the proposal, Senators Barkley (Ky.) and White (Me.), the Democratic and Republicans, were reported ready to offer a resolution to seat all other 35 senators-elect. This, they believed, would put Bilbo's supporters in the unfavorable position of blocking directly the swearing in of the other new members.

Pickets Withdrawn At Tropical Park

Miami, Fla., Jan. 4 (AP)—Pairs of pickets that had patrolled each entrance gate to Tropical Park because of an electricians' strike were withdrawn when injunction orders were served today. But a union spokesman said he expected to have them back on Monday.

The Electrical Workers' Local 349 called the strike. Track officials said about six electricians were involved, and in addition about 20 mutual workers stayed away. Nearly 400 other mutuals workers reported for duty as usual.

Florida's Attorney General J. Tom Watson appeared personally before Circuit Judge Ross Williams and with Attorney William J. Pruitt, obtained two temporary injunctions. One prohibited picketing, while the other enjoined the race track and union from negotiating for a closed shop in violation of the National Labor Relations Act.

Car Makers Haven't Given Up Hopes For Reduction Of Prices

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
(AP) Automotive Editor

Detroit, (AP)—The nation's automobile manufacturers shelved plans for the introduction of new lightweight and lower priced cars because they were unable to get materials enough to keep their standard models in volume production.

But they haven't given up hope of revising car prices downward. This can be done, according to some industry spokesmen, if supply lines can be kept filled and assembly line operations stepped up to somewhere near plant capacity. In round numbers that means a 500,000-unit-a-month production level.

There is nothing altruistic about the industry's desire to cut prices: most car makers are agreed present prices are too high to sustain demand once the huge backlog piled up during the war years has been absorbed.

Whether prices will go higher before they turn downward is problematical; some car makers have asserted that further price increases must follow any advance in wages and materials costs; others have declared that "the industry has just about reached its price peak."

The industry will go into 1947 with what it regards as bona fide orders on hand for 5,000,000 passenger cars. More will accumulate during the coming months, but at a considerably slower pace because of recent price increases.

Current indications are that January, with several suspensions for model changes and inventory-taking, will be one of the smallest production months since early last summer. Each of General Motors' five car producing divisions will take some time out for inventory if not for the switch-over to new models.

The Cadillac division got its 1947 models on the production line last week without halting operations. Inventory stoppages, however, are planned by most if not all the divisions. If each averages a week approximately 32,000 cars will be taken out of the January total by General Motors alone.

The Trade Publication Automatic News in today's issue estimated last week's production at 42,781 passenger vehicles and 17,360 trucks. It estimated total production of United States plants for the year at 2,149,000 cars and 936,000 trucks.

Mrs. St. George and Georgia L. Lusk (D-N.M.) were the only new members. The former wore a black suit with gold buttons and a huge gold elephant on the lapel, a yellow chiffon blouse embroidered with sequins and low heeled pumps.

Mrs. Luck, in black with white blouse, wore a blue feather hat, against house custom. Just before removing her roll call, however, she removed the chapeau.

Other women members sworn in were veterans Mary T. Norton (D-N.J.) and Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.). They were handsome in new suits, the former's purple, the lady from Lowell's bright blue. Each wore huge orange corsages.

Also taking the oath were Mrs. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) and Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.). Mrs. Bolton wore a dark blue and white checked suit with a dark blouse. Mrs. Smith was in dark green wool with a red rose corsage.

The president and Byrnes both praised Baruch's work.

Baruch's letter was in the nature of a report to the president, reviewing the veto right and the development of the atomic control stage. He said he is convinced that "the job now should be taken over by Senator Austin."

He concluded on this note:

"I see no reason why this country should not continue the making of bombs, at least until the ratification of the treaty (providing for international atomic controls.)

"I have drawn your attention before to the necessity of preserving the atomic secrets. Particularly this is wise as to our design, know-how, engineering and equipment. The McMahon law (for domestic control) carries authority for this protection. If this authority should be found to be inadequate, it should be broadened to meet any needs, until a treaty is ratified by our Senate.

"While science should be free, it should not be free to destroy mankind."

The 75-year-old, silvery-haired financier was named to the United Nations atomic commission last March.

Break In Extreme Cold Promised As Storm Clouds Lift

(By The Associated Press)

Clearing skies and rising temperatures brought relief Saturday night to large sections of the country that had been beset by heavy snow or sleet storms and severe cold.

A protracted storm that deposited a thick snow blanket from New Mexico to western Pennsylvania moved out over the Atlantic. The only fresh snow reported Saturday in the eastern half of the nation occurred as flurries in the lower Great Lakes and Ohio Valley regions.

A cold wave that brought sub-zero temperatures to many mid-west states and near zero temperatures deep in the south began moving east in modified form.

Weather forecasters said near normal winter weather would return to most parts of the country by late Sunday except in the east where temperatures will remain low.

For a brief time they forgot the rumble of motor traffic which churned through the streets of present day London and remembered the more leisurely days of horse carriages and gins for two and a half pennies (five cents) a portion.

The oldest present was Arthur Bennett, who at 91 remembers driving the Kaiser on a visit to England and members of the English Royal family.

And 79-year-old George John Stevens, nicknamed "Port Wine and Biscuits," spoke right out with the declaration that the taxi cab may please some but "nothing can beat horses."

The U.S. Veterans' Administration estimates it will have 159,000 medical cases to care for in 1950.

JOBLESS RATE MOVING HIGHER

1300 Unemployed Here
In December, Says
MSES Report

Unemployed persons in Delta county rose sharply during the month of December, with approximately 1300 people seeking work, James M. Damitz, loco USES office manager announced Saturday. Of this total, 1097 were veterans, and 71 were women which represents nearly a 40 per cent rise over the previous month. A total of 82 persons, 46 of whom were veterans were referred from the office to discuss job opportunities with local employers which resulted in 31 placements, 18 of whom were veterans. At the close of the month, there were 46 unfilled job openings, the great majority of which were in the woods industry.

Members of the local office staff have received training in the use of occupational testing devices, and it is hoped that these methods of testing will be used in the selection of workers for the new industries which are expected to locate in Escanaba during the coming year. Many openings are on file at the office for workers throughout Michigan and Northern Wisconsin, and openings exist for both skilled and unskilled men. Interested persons are asked to communicate with the local office for further information on out-of-town openings.

PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR RED CROSS

Drive Quota Of $12,500
To Be Raised From March 1 To 10

A short but intensive Red Cross membership campaign is being planned by the Delta county Chapter for the period from March 1 to 10, with the quota established at $12,500. It was announced yesterday by Nevin J. Reynolds, chairman of the 1947 Red Cross campaign committee.

Hundreds of silver fox and mink pelts will be on display and

W. Traverse have been appointed chairman and assistant in handling publicity for the drive. The township organization will be headed by Francis Rooney, who is well-known to the majority of rural residents of the county. He is experienced in Red Cross work, and was active in the organization in Appleton, before moving to Escanaba.

day night in the Red Cross office in Escanaba.

Several changes in campaign plans, indicating the transition from war to peacetime, will be inaugurated in the 1947 drive.

The previous system of block solicitation in the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone will be dropped, in the belief that contributions will be as generous as before even though the number of person-to-person contacts is reduced. The change will also release from work many persons who gave willingly of their time during the war.

The period of the drive has been shortened, in the hope that a more intensive campaign will bring the desired result through cooperative effort on the part of solicitors and the public. The mechanics of the drive organization have already been completed.

Juel Lee has been appointed chairman of the industrial division, and his division has already been active in the initial stages of the drive.

FIREMEN ISSUE 1946 REPORT

Fewer Calls, Less Loss
From Flames Mark

1946 was a good year for the Escanaba fire department, according to a summary of activities issued yesterday by Chief Jerry Jerow.

Fire calls made during the year were of less than average number; and fire damage was held way down.

A total of 289 fire calls were made in 1946. In January the department made 27 calls; Feb., 27; March, 46; April, 28; May, 28; June, 28; July, 8; August, 15; September, 20; Oct., 19; Nov., 16; Dec., 29.

Grass fires headed the list of calls with 55 during the year. Chimney fires accounted for 47 calls; gasoline and oil fires for 11. There were 39 false alarms.

Most of these fires caused little or no damage. Total fire losses for the year amounted to $11,023.00, and of this sum, over $8,000.00 damage was caused by five fires.

Chief Jerow lays the excellence of this record to a wet 1946, which cut down the number and extent of the grass fires; and to the disappearance of the old shingle roof on Escanaba residences. "I remember," Chief Jerow said, "when I first came into the department, twenty-six years ago, we'd average 3 or 4 roof calls a

Mental Defectives Buried Alive By Tribe In Africa

(P) Newsfeatures

Khartoum—The burial alive of deformed and mentally defective children and adults in a remote part of the Otoro Hills in Kordofan Province, Sudan, about 350 miles south of Khartoum is reported in a telegram received here from a government post at Talodi, the nearest civilized point.

Twenty-two men and women of the Otoro Nuba tribe are accused of at least four crimes during the past four years. All the accused are more than 60 years of age. They will probably be charged with murder.

The victims were a four-year-old crippled boy, a crippled and diseased male infant, a crippled girl aged five years and a dumb, crippled woman age 35.

All the alleged burials took place at Orumbe, in the south east of the Nuba Mountains. The acting governor of Kordofan Province, G. Hawkesworth, has gone to Orumbe to investigate.

Painful Experience

FOR a city that has long prided itself on its excellent "housekeeping" services, snow removal, ash and garbage collection, street cleaning, etc.—Escanaba can review its experience in the recent heavy snowstorm with considerable misgivings and perhaps with a determination to do better in the future.

A full week after the heavy snowstorm we are chagrined to find plowing crews still battling to restore normal traffic on city streets, with a big job still remaining to be done. At the present rate of progress it may require several more days to widen all traffic lanes in the city to curb the future.

It is true that the recent snowstorm was one of unusual severity, with a fall of upwards of 12 inches within a 24 hour period, but in this northern country, street and highway crews must be geared to just such emergencies. The plain truth is that this time we were caught unprepared.

To add to the misery of the situation, virtually all of the heavy plowing equipment of the city broke down just at the time it was needed the most. This unfortunate experience explains the slowness in the snow removal program following the heavy storm.

Fortunately the snow loader, itself an antiquated piece of equipment but one that seems to chug along with amazing efficiency, continued in operation and Ludington street is cleared.

The problem now is to acquire as rapidly as possible sufficient equipment to do a good snow removal job in the quickest possible time.

Sigler Ousts Olander

THERE is bound to be mixed reaction to Gov. Kim Sigler's surprising dismissal of the veteran Oscar G. Olander as commissioner of the Michigan State Police.

Governor Sigler, in his letter of dismissal, paid tribute to Olander for the important part he played in the building of the Michigan State Police into one of the nation's outstanding law enforcement organizations. However, he expressed his belief that the commissioner was lax in allowing his organization to be defamed by the actions of Capt. Laurence A. Lyon and other officers, who were found guilty of accepting bribes.

There are some who will say that Governor Sigler should not have made such a dramatic ouster of the state police head; that he should have called Olander in and given him the opportunity to resign, since he is now beyond the retirement age. This would have been the easy way out of a messy situation, but apparently that is not the way Michigan's new governor wants to do things.

Some things Governor Sigler had to say with regard to the Olander case will meet with public approval. It is true that the prestige of the Michigan State Police has been greatly undermined by the criminal actions of some of its members. Sigler ran for office on a promise that he would do everything possible to rid the state of graft and corruption. Obviously, he wants to start with a clean slate, and he believes that the installation of a new commissioner of the state police is a good place to start.

It's a bad break for Oscar G. Olander, who has achieved a fine record in the public service, but it is still possible for him to retire without any serious damage to his reputation. There is no implication that he was in any way connected with the graft found within his department, but there is some merit in Governor Sigler's contention that Olander should have known what was going on.

tions, and to housing, civic improvements and other matters that will make Escanaba a better community.

Bigger and Better Fair

THE U. P. State Fair board will meet today to formulate tentative plans for the 1947 exposition at Escanaba. The board at previous meetings has indicated a progressive leadership in the development of the Upper Peninsula fair and it may be assumed that out of the meeting in Escanaba today will come basic plans for a bigger and better fair in 1947.

One of the big projects under discussion is the construction of a new 4-H club building, much sought by the fair directors as a necessity for expanding the youth angle at the annual exposition. This project, as well as others under consideration, will depend, of course, upon the state's financial condition and the sentiment of the state legislature in the appropriation of the necessary funds.

The U. P. State Fair was resumed in 1946 after a wartime lapse and it was a grand success from every angle. That it will be bigger and better in 1947 can be taken for granted.

Retaliatory Strikes

AN AMERICAN Federation of Labor officer, in a speech delivered to the American Political Science Association, has warned that "fooling around with restrictive laws and practices" regarding labor will bring on a fresh wave of strikes.

It is precisely this attitude, we believe, that has helped to bring about the possibility of restrictive laws. The AFL executive, who obviously was addressing his remarks to Congress, seems to have forgotten that "fooling around with restrictive laws and practices" is well within the province of Congress.

The present labor laws are neither sacred nor immutable. If Congress, with the support of the majority of the people, sees fit to change those laws, it has a right to do so. And threats of retaliatory action against the national economy are not likely to deter the legislators.

The people generally don't like such retaliatory action. Neither, we believe, are union members anxious to suffer again the economic losses of a strike undertaken for such reasons.

If there is a wave of strikes following a possible modification of the Wagner Act, it will probably be because the union leaders have ordered it.

The threat of strikes, outside the reasons for striking usually defined as "legitimate," will probably help to bring about such a modification.

Other Editorial Comments

SIGLER'S LIQUOR START (Detroit News)

Before becoming Governor, Kim Sigler has started in a refreshingly vigorous way to carry out his campaign promise to give the State's liquor affairs thorough personal attention.

At the Lansing budget hearing, he called in Chairman Flynn and State Liquor Commissioners Fry and Pearce and subjected them to a typical Sigler examination. What work each did and how much time he gave to it, interested Sigler.

He exhibited especial concern, as he had right to, in the statement by Louis A. Kunzig that he has found himself the Control Commission's business manager in name only. It is evident that, exactly as he should be, the business manager will be a real one under Sigler.

In acting thus as Governor-elect, before possessing real executive powers, Sigler also proved his purpose not to avail himself of the recent change that eliminated the Governor as an ex-officio member of the Commission. He takes on fully the equivalent of the responsibilities Govs. Murphy, Dickinson, Van Wagoner and, when he took office, Gov. Kelly bore as unofficial commissioners.

There are some who will say that Governor Sigler should not have made such a dramatic ouster of the state police head; that he should have called Olander in and given him the opportunity to resign, since he is now beyond the retirement age. This would have been the easy way out of a messy situation, but apparently that is not the way Michigan's new governor wants to do things.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—The other day in Cape Town, South Africa, that shrewd, wily, indomitable old man, Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, made two speeches. One was for world consumption. The other, to a much smaller, private audience, was for home consumption.

To his world audience, Prime Minister Smuts complained in dignified tones about the action of the United Nations assembly in voting approval of a resolution covering a case of racial discrimination in the union of South Africa. Smuts declared that the resolution should have been referred to the international court of justice, which would certainly have found that the assembly had no jurisdiction.

For home consumption, Smuts said something quite different. He said that he knew the voters of South Africa stood solidly behind him in his refusal to make any concessions to racial equality. In 20 years, said Smuts, the whole world will face the problem of white versus color which now confronts South Africa.

The racial resolution adopted by the UN assembly has cast a long shadow. In the perspective of the future, it may seem to have been the most important step taken by the new Congress of nations.

HAVE NO CIVIL RIGHTS

Here is what lies behind that resolution. In the union of South Africa are some 220,000 Indians, most of them Hindus. They, or their fathers and mothers before them, came from India as coolies. Of the untouchable caste, they believed they might somehow better their lot. Some have indeed become prosperous, and even wealthy.

But except for a very small minority who come under an early law, they have no civil rights whatsoever. They cannot vote. They can own property only in certain segregated areas. This has given rise to ever-increasing agitation. The cry of "taxation without representation," out of our own past, resounds anew.

The resolution before the assembly, introduced by the delegation from India, recommended that the union of South Africa and the government of India get together to work out the problem of the Indian minority. If only by indirection, it was a rebuke to the union of South Africa.

The United States and Great Britain voted against the resolution on the ground that the UN assembly had no jurisdiction over what was the domestic business of South Africa. But every colored country voted for the resolution. The Moslem countries of the Middle East voted with India.

So did the Soviet Union. That is the significant fact which is certain to have political echoes in every corner of the globe. The USSR's propaganda for racial equality is far and away the most effective weapon in the Soviet propaganda arsenals.

The Russian-haters say this propaganda is meaningless since all races in Russia are equally in subjection. The Russian-idolaters paint it into pictures of perfection. The truth lies, in all probability, somewhere between. But the facts are unimportant so long as millions of oppressed people of color believe that the Soviet Union has established racial equality.

The minister of interior in South Africa has announced that he intends to do nothing about the UN resolution. It has hard to see what could be done in any event, since India has broken off all relations, both trade and diplomatic, with the union of South Africa.

Smuts is probably right when he says he has the backing of the voter. There are about 2,000,000 whites and 8,000,000 negroes in South Africa. The negroes have about the same status as the Indians. The racial issue tends to submerge even the bitter, long-standing quarrel between Boer and British.

This has profound meaning for us here in the United States in the new year. We can at least say that ours has not been the die-hard attitude of South Africa. Thousands of Americans in every walk of life are working to end the racial discriminations that exist here.

Southerners with the courage and imagination of Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia are striving to end the injustices and inequalities inflicted on the negroes. Churches throughout the country are striving toward the same end. The National Catholic Welfare Conference has taken some significant steps in that direction during the past year.

This will be our answer if, before the world of opinion, we are ever taxed with racial discrimination. It is not part of the pattern of our basic law, and conscientious citizens are faithfully and fearlessly working to stop it in practice.

went up to Jerusalem." Can you explain it?—Mrs. R. E.

Answer: When the Authorized Version was translated, the word carriage commonly meant "burden," that is "things carried." See also First Samuel xvii, 22, and Isaiah x, 28.

Answer: Dictionary consensus is: per-KAIL. However, many Americans say per-KAL, a pronunciation which is listed as second choice by Thorndike's Century.

Answer: "Giboon" is a common misspelling due to false association with the word baboon. The ape you refer to is the gibbon (two "b's" and one "o"), and the pronunciation is: GIB-un, the "g" hard as in "gift, girl."

Just out my new pamphlet, STOP-LIGHTS OF SPEECH, which explains how to avoid mannerisms, affectations, and pronunciations that switch the listener's attention from what is being said to how it is being said. Don't miss it. For a free copy, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Frank Colby, in care of this paper.

Escanaba enters the year 1947 with bright prospects on the industrial, commercial, civic and other fronts. During the past three years, about fifteen sizable industries have been attracted to Escanaba. The industries are highly diversified, representing the attainment of a long-time objective of this community. Escanaba has done well with its industrial development program. ROAD INSPECTOR

Leaving the village of Rock in this fifth in a series of columns describing a tour of Delta county roads, we continued northeastward to connect with US-41, and thence turned south to Rapid River where we had lunch. In response to a question from Road Commissioner Henry Wylie, J. T. Sharpenstein, county road superintendent, told how main highways in the county are inspected nightly to determine whether any adverse condition exists.

The inspector, who has a rather lonely job, all things considered, is George O'Connell of Escanaba, who starts his day's work at 11 o'clock at night, and finishes about 7 o'clock in the morning. He drives all night on the trunklines, watching for icy places, for drifts that may form in open sections even when there is no snowstorm, and whatever else may appear to constitute a traffic hazard. Bad conditions are reported to the foreman at the nearest garage, who dispatches a crew of men to correct it. Although not specifically his work, O'Connell often is able to assist motorists in trouble on highways in the late hours of the night, when there are few other cars on the road.

MOBILE TELEPHONE

While we lunch at Rapid River, in the restaurant walked Jim Young of Menominee, engineer of the Michigan Bell Telephone company. Sharpenstein inquired of him about the operation of a mobile telephone system which is being considered by the county for use in its heavy trucks. Young advised the county road superintendent to continue his conversations on the matter with George Marcouiller of Escanaba, who is to submit cost estimates.

The mobile telephone system would be of great assistance in county road maintenance, might save lives in emergencies, and certainly would permit Mr. O'Connell, the road inspector, to notify a foreman of road trouble more quickly.

WITH OWN LUMBER

Visiting the Rapid River branch garage of the road commission we met Foreman George Peterson and saw about 15 other men at work there. At the rear but separated from the garage a storage building is being built, and there is some high quality lumber going into it. An inquiry disclosed that the lumber comes from logs cut in federal forests with the permission of the Forest Service. The county uses its own equipment in the logging, and has the logs saved to obtain three-inch planks for bridge decks, and lumber for concrete forms. Because of the shortage, lumber was now also used in the storage building.

RECREATION AREA

From Rapid River we drove eastward, heading for the Garden peninsula. Where the trunkline highway skirts Big Bay de Noc just before the Garden Junction turn, Sharpenstein and Bill Karas pointed out a recreation area being developed along the shore. The land is owned by the state highway department, and last summer a bulldozer was used to level an area for public use. More work will be done next summer.

There is a fine sand beach, shallow and inviting to the summer

2860 Delta County Men Released; 1101 Are Still In Service

A total of 2860 Delta county men have been discharged from service, 1300 of them in the year 1946, the local draft board has announced. There still are 1101 Delta county men in active service or in the enlisted reserve corps, however.

A total of 598 draft registrants are included in this total and 503 Delta county soldiers still in service are not registered with the local board.

The peak of discharges was reached in January when 289 men from Delta county were released from service. The low point was November, 1946 when only 16 men were discharged.

The monthly discharges in the past 13 months follow: Dec., 1945 264, January 289, February 205, March 168, April 148, May 183, June 88, July 77, August 32, Sept. 33, October 23, Nov. 16 and Dec., 1946, 38.

Poland Plans High Cost Outlay For '47

State-Wide Real Estate Agents Meeting In Flint

Wroclaw, Poland (AP)—Czeslaw Bobrowski, head of the Central Planning Board, told the congress of civic commissions for the national tax in session here that the government proposed to spend $35,000,000,000 zlotys ($350,000,000) in 1947 for the industrial and economic rehabilitation and development of the western territories absorbed from eastern Germany.

Bobrowski made the statement in connection with the collection now underway of a special national tax, or "Danina Narodowy," designed to raise at least $130,000,000 the coming year to be spent in the western territories.

Bobrowski said plans include improvement of communications, including highways and railways and the rebuilding of about 100 miles of trackage and bridges; improving waterways and ports; and industrial investments totaling $4,600,000, including the development of foundries, factories and industrial plants in Lower Silesia. Large sums also have been allotted for development of agriculture, schools, and health and social welfare programs.

Minister of Industry Hilary Mine emphasized that Poland, in her struggle back toward economic stability, would probably have to depend more and more upon her own resources in 1947 in view of the liquidation of the aid given in the past by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Adminis-

RAY MULVANEY DIES SUDDENLY

Former Escanaban Was Stricken With Pneumonia

Raymond Arthur Mulvane, 54, son of William Mulvane of Escanaba, died at a hospital in Rochester, N. Y., Friday night after a brief illness. He was taken to the hospital Wednesday suffering from flu-pneumonia.

Mulvane spent many of his summer vacations in Escanaba, visiting at the William Shepeck home. His last visit was about a year and a half ago, and he had planned on coming to Escanaba again early in February.

Mulvane was born in Columbus, Wis., March 27, 1892. He attended St. Joseph's school in the grades and was graduated from the Escanaba high school in 1912. Following his graduation, he worked for a while in the offices of the Chicago and North Western railway, leaving Escanaba later to enter the employ of the Chicago Mill and Lumber company. Mr. Mulvane was associated with the U. S. Plywood Corporation in Rochester the past 25 years.

Besides his widow, Harriet, he is survived by his father, William Mulvane, and three brothers and three sisters: William, Jr., Lansing; Joseph, Middleton, Conn.; Thomas, Cincinnati, O.; Mrs. Frank Finn, Marquette; Rosella Mulvane, Escanaba, and Mrs. W. F. Shepeck, Escanaba.

Funeral services will be held in Rochester, N. Y., Monday, with burial in Harrisburg, Pa. Tom and Joseph Mulvane of Cincinnati and Middleton, respectively, have already gone to Rochester to attend the funeral.

Eugene Field II Dies In California

Alameda, Calif.—(AP)—Funeral services for Eugene Field II, 67, son of the poet, were held Saturday in Pasadena.

He died New Year's Eve at the Alameda home of his sister, Mrs. W. C. Englar.

Field, a widower, was a native of Kansas City, Mo., a graduate of the University of Michigan.

After the poet died in 1895, the family spent considerable time on a farm at Tomahawk, Wis. Field devoted most of his attention to collecting and sale of manuscripts and acting as author's agent.

He is survived also by another sister, Mrs. Elmer Foster of Tomahawk, Wis., and a brother, Roswell F. Field, Detroit, Mich.

Honey is used as a sweetening agent by bakers and confectioners, because it imparts flavor and helps preserve foodstuffs.

Olafson Misses Nellie The Horse

By ANDY P. OLAFSON

Well after spending 2 days getting a Christmas tree and 2 more days looking for lighting bulbs for it which you can not find or buy and then one more day for to put the tree up and get all decorations on it then you look at it for 2 or 3 days & you come to New Yrs, hang over & you feel like throwing something out and you can not throw your self out so you decide that tree better be thrown out so you throw it out and put the decorations away for another yr. and then spending the next week picking Christmas tree needles out from under the rug pants leg cuffs behind the radiator in your over shoes in the mail box under the sofa and some even got in our Penny Cakes well that tree shed worst than our old Gray Horse Nelly which you had to hold a robe up in front of you every time she coaxed or you would get a set of gray whiskers & if you had a blue suit by the time you get to town behind Nelly you would look like a Civil War veteran from Senator Klahorns district in Dixy but one thing about that horse Nelly she never side swiped any cars or ran over any people or took the ditch speeding when the driver have to much to drink no sir Nelly never mix alcohol with oats & you could all ways deepen on it she would start no matter how cold in the morning but Nelly finely ended up in a mitten factory & she was so tough I bet some of them mittens are not worn out yet.

Well I sure gotten wondifull supporting for Mirko Skraski & myself for building that bridge across the bay to Stonington & I hear the bar tenders union are going to sell bonds for it and if they do as good as they did with war bonds it is in the bag Hoping you are the same

Willie Fred Dixon Likes To Lie In Bed Thinking Up Gadgets

BY BERYL SELLERS

Chattanooga, Tenn. (AP)—A tire salesman who says he is "just naturally mechanically minded" has turned his hobby of lying in bed and dreaming up little conveniences into a large-scale turnout of practical inventions.

Suppose, for instance, you're on the road and out of gas, or looking for a seat in a crowded theater, or just too lazy on Sunday morning to get out of bed and get the paper. Willie Fred Dixon of Chattanooga has invented little gadgets which he thinks will solve your problems.

Four of his inventions have been patented—the automatic theater usher, the mechanical paper deliverer (it'll bring the paper direct from the mail box to your bedroom), a beam ray, and a collapsible bedside tray. He has applied for patents for an automatic service gas pump and a two-compartment bottle and says he has about 10 additional ideas to work on.

Dixon, a poetic sort of a fellow who likes to make up little rhymes and enter them in soap contests, is more enthusiastic about his theater usher invention than his other gadgets.

"Each row of seats is equipped with a panel board with numbers of the seats on it," explained the

Retiring Senator LaFollette Slated For U. N. Council Job

Washington (AP)—The White House announced the resignation of John G. Winant as United States representative on the United Nations Economic and Social Council.

From State Department sources, it was learned that retiring Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin will probably succeed Winant on the council.

It was a pair of gloves with red reflectors to be used by drivers on dark nights when indicating a traffic turn with their hands—other drivers could detect the red reflectors and would know what kind of turn was coming up."

"When the object enters the ray area, the ray is broken and that registers on a detector at a nearby base," Dixon explained. "The Navy planned to use it as a harbor defense against enemy submarines. The gadget was still in the experimental stage at the close of the war."

A trip to Florida started Dixon, who was born in Metter, Ga., and has lived in Chattanooga for the last 10 years, thinking about an automatic gas pump.

"I couldn't find any filling stations open in the early hours of the morning along the way so I decided to do something about it," he said. "I rigged up a tank which takes a 50-cent piece through a

Rabbi Wise Quits Zionist Offices, Deplores Hatreds

New York—(P)—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise withdrew from "all offices" in the Zionist Organization of America which he helped to found nearly 50 years ago, and termed the recent world Zionist congress in Switzerland "a collection of personal hatreds and rancors and private ambitions."

The 72-year-old Zionist vice president declared the Congress, which voted in Switzerland ten days ago not to participate in the London conference on Palestine, was "nothing less than tragic in its indecency."

Rabbi Wise, who announced his action to his congregation at the Free Synagogue, said, "I do not, I cannot, withdraw from Zionism, but I withdraw from all office in the Zionist Organization of America."

Rabbi Wise said he found it hard to believe the Congress had "rebuked and rebuffed" England and America and that Dr. Chaim Weizmann, former president, "would be dropped as pilot when most needed."

School Enrollment In Berlin Goes Up

Berlin (P)—Despite a decrease of one million in the city's population, Berlin has a higher school enrollment than it had in 1938 and is attempting to handle it with less than half its pre-war trained teaching staff.

The school enrollment in this city of three million now totals 450,617 children and youths. The 1938 enrollment was 431,836. The breakdown shows 305,452 in the public primary schools; 80,236 in vocational schools; 42,901 in high schools; 15,699 in intermediate schools and 6,329 in special schools.

The regular teaching staff has declined from approximately 11,000 to 6,162. One of the biggest factors in this decline has been denazification, which threw many teachers out of their jobs.

Iron Mountain Man Named Lt. Governor Of Kiwanis Clubs

Delta Farm-Home Show Attracts 200 Yesterday

Although attendance at the 1947 Delta county farm and home show held yesterday at the fair grounds in Escanaba was disappointing, about 200 rural residents found the program of exhibits, displays and talks both interesting and informative. The farm and home show was sponsored by Michigan State College Extension Service and the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Near zero weather and the recent storm that made traveling inconvenient were believed to account in part for the low attendance. A somewhat similar program last year, the county dairy jury in 1945; took part in Red Cross, Salvation Army and Community Chest campaigns and is now chairman of the committee in charge of the Presbyterian Boy Scout troop.

Perfect Attendance
Joining the Iron Mountain Kiwanis club in March 15, 1937, Best has maintained a perfect attendance record. He served his club as a committee member; director; secretary; bulletin editor; program chairman and, in 1944, was president. He has been district public relations director since 1944.

The northern division, which Best will head as lieutenant-governor, in 1948 will observe its twentieth anniversary. It was organized in 1928 with Dr. F. O. Logic as the first lieutenant-governor.

Registration of the 400 Kiwanians expected at the conference in Milwaukee will be started at 2 Sunday on the fifth floor of the Schroeder hotel. All district officers will meet at 12:30 for an organizational luncheon preceding a meeting of the board of trustees.

Active In Community

A member of First Presbyterian, Best has served as ruling elder for three years, trustee for one year and in other church offices. A charter member of the Five County club of Printing House Craftsmen, he is a past-president of the group and has served on several committees in the district and international association. He also is an active member of the Knights of Pythias and Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

During the war, Best was a member of the Victory Speaker's bureau, and active in the war effort.

He served on the federal grand farm kitchen was reproduced.

Dairying came in for its share of attention because of its importance as the leading cash crop of Delta county farmers.

Dairy practices and equipment that make work easier for the dairyman, earn him more profit and produce a higher quality of milk, were demonstrated. During the morning demonstrations were given on milking, using a portable milking machine and rubber udders; cleaning dairy utensils by the easy, fast and effective way with the use of wetting agents, and the running of the methylene blue test to determine the quality of milk.

Penicillin Helps Prevent Abscess

London—Acute mastitis, painful breast inflammation that may afflict women after childbirth, may be cured more quickly and breast abscesses prevented by penicillin treatment.

Good results with the mold chemical in these conditions are reported to the British Medical Journal by Lady Florey who with her husband, Sir Howard Florey, was one of the first physicians to use penicillin in the now historic clinical trials of the drug. That was in 1941 when penicillin was laboriously made in the laboratory and there was not enough of it to finish treating the first patient.

With plenty of penicillin available now for treatment of even non-fatal conditions, Lady Florey decided to try it as a remedy for acute mastitis and breast abscesses.

"Rented the first day" said Smith

June Ione Dupey And
Elmer Walker Were Married Dec. 28

Marion Bink And
Arlon Long Wed
Here Saturday

A colorful wedding ceremony performed in the rectory of St. Joseph church yesterday united in marriage Miss Marion Lucille Bink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bink, 1019 First avenue south and Arlon Lee Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Long, Gladstone. Rev. Fr. Francis officiated at the St. Joseph church on Dec. 28 at 10 a.m. with Fr. Francis X. Hoffer officiating.

The church was decorated with pointsettias and white mums. The musical background was provided by Mrs. Donald Wolfe, Mrs. Joseph Klinger and Doris Costley who sang the solos of the mass. At the offertory the "Ave Maria" was sung by the chorus and Mrs. John Cass. The traditional processional and recessional music were played by the organist Miss Eva Cossette.

The bride was dressed in a gown which had a white satin bodice with a shoulder ruffle of Chantilly lace and a full skirt of muslin-de-satin with a train. The long sleeves were pointed at the wrist and her fingertip veil was gathered into a Queen Ann crown. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and white mums with white streamers.

The maid of honor, Joyce Dupey, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaid, Betty Saber, were dressed in identical dresses of chiffon velvet styled with scallops on the neckline, sleeves and waistline. Both wore blue velvet calots with white ostrich plumes and carried bouquets of baby mums, pink snapdragons and ferns with pink streamers.

Jack Erdmann of Green Bay was the best man and Mrs. Sovay of Escanaba was an usher.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride for the bridal party and immediate members of the family. A reception was held later at the home of the bridegroom where a three-tiered wedding cake with a figurine decorated the table.

Mrs. Dupey chose a light blue suit with a corsage of American Beauties for her daughters wedding while the bridegroom's mother wore a light grey suit with a corsage of American Beauties.

The couple left on a wedding trip after the reception and for her going away outfit Mrs. Walker wore a gold wool dress with brown accessories. They will make their home at 309 South 16th street. Both are graduates of St. Joseph's high school.

Sunlight Vitamin
Needed In Winter,
Pediatricians Say

Michigan children have an unusual chance to enjoy the fun of winter sports but the season has one draw back from the standpoint of health, according to Dr. William DeKlein, state health commissioner.

Michigan lies in an area which receives the lowest number of hours of sunlight in winter, so it is especially important that children receive vitamin D from some other source. Milk fortified with vitamin D and fish-liver oils supply this vitamin which is necessary for the normal development of bones and teeth during growth.

Many pediatricians feel that Michigan children should be given vitamin D, winter and summer, through the entire period of growth, Dr. DeKlein states.

Rickets is a common disease caused by lack of vitamin D in food and lack of sufficient sun-shine. Rickets occurs during the period of most rapid growth in infancy and early childhood. It affects the whole body, but most strikingly the bones, which may become greatly deformed, and the muscles, which become weak and flabby.

Delta Bridge
League Reports
Lively Session

BY L. W. OLSON
It was a night of fun and frolic at the Delta Bridge League. I have ever seen our group in such a happy frame of mind before, during and after our bridge session. We hope they will continue to enjoy the sessions for the balance of 1947 as much as they did this first meeting of the New Year.

In spite of the extreme cold weather proximity of the holiday season we had a very fine turnout of our members and friends.

The board of directors have a few very important matters to bring up to a vote of the club at next meeting, and we urge all members to be present at this Friday's meeting so we can get your opinion of these matters. The matter of weekly or bi-weekly luncheons will be one of the more interesting things we must have a vote on. Be sure and be there.

Play will start promptly at 8 o'clock and as usual will be held at the Elk's Lodge room on Friday evening. We also urge all prospective duplicate players to come and enjoy an evening of duplicate contract bridge.

Players scoring 50 per cent or better in last week's play were as follows:

1. B. M. Howe and L. J. Kremer 67.24.

2. Mrs. H. Needham and Mrs. B. M. Howe, 58.12.

3. Mrs. A. Kraus and Mrs. J. Shipman, 57.62.

4-5. Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Dehlin, 55.87.

6-5. C. Buckbee Sr. and C. Buckbee Jr., 55.87.

6. J. L. Temby and Mrs. L. W. Olson, 54.62.

7. Mrs. J. L. Temby and Mrs. L. W. Olson, 52.25.

8. Mrs. K. Treiber and Mrs. D. Remington, 51.12.

9. Mrs. E. Beck and Mrs. C. E. Johnson, 50.00.

Every-Member
Canvass Planned
At St. Stephen's

The every-member canvass of St. Stephen's Episcopal church will get under way Saturday evening, Jan. 11, with the annual parish supper at the parish hall.

The supper program will be featured by an address by Stewart A. Cushman of Chicago, an outstanding Episcopal layman.

Charles E. Lewis, who has served as chairman of the every-member canvass for several years, has resigned from this office, and the committee has been reorganized with Charles Follo as chairman, Melvin Trams, first vice chairman, and Ralph Layman, second vice chairman. Mr. Lewis will act as advisor to the committee, which consists of about thirty members of the parish.

The annual canvass will begin immediately after the supper program.

POLICE CHIEF GIVES WARNING

Court Summons To Follow Non-Payment Of Ticket

Munising — Those persons receiving tickets for overnight parking on the city streets who fail to report to the police department and pay the fine will be sent summons to appear before a justice court, Chief of Police Urban Trombley warned yesterday.

"An average of about six such tickets have been given each night," he said, "and some persons have been ignoring the tickets. This can run into a serious matter," he explained.

Chief Trombley pointed out that receiving such a ticket for overnight parking originally costs the offender a dollar, if taken and paid promptly. However, he said that by ignoring the ticket and failing to report in and pay the fee, may bring the offender a stiff fine or jail sentence or both, besides paying court costs.

Provisions of the ordinance read as follows:

"Any person convicted of violating any of the provisions of Ordinance 57 shall for the first offense be punished by a fine not exceeding $25 and cost of prosecution or in default of paying such fine by imprisonment in the county jail of Alger county not to exceed ten days. For second offense shall be punishable by a fine not to exceed $50 and cost of prosecution or in default of paying such fine by imprisonment in the county jail of Alger county not to exceed 30 days. For third or any subsequent offense a fine not to exceed $100 and costs of prosecution or by imprisonment in the county jail of 60 days or both such fine and imprisonment."

The ordinance prohibits parking on any street in Munising longer than one hour between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. of the next day between Nov. 15 and April 15.

REORGANIZE CIRCLE

Munising — The Van Meer Baptist Church Women's Sewing Circle, which has been inactive during recent months, was reorganized at Van Meer last Wednesday evening. Rev. Warren Jolls, pastor, has announced.

Meetings will be held each Wednesday evening beginning with Wednesday, January 8.

Election of officers to govern the circle will be held in the near future, the pastor said.

Mather High Students Are Learning By Seeing

Music Is Added To Skating Rink Facilities Here

Munising — Ice skaters of the community are enjoying music while they waltz on the steel blades at the municipal rink located at the corner of Lynn and Choclay streets.

Despite the extremely cold weather and snow storms which have plagued the Munising territory and the whole state the past two weeks, the rink has been kept clear and both young and old have enjoyed this winter sport every day. The ice has been "perfect" an with the enlarged rink, more persons have been able to enjoy skating.

Music for the ice skaters is provided from a loud speaker system attached to a phonograph which the city has rented for the season. The recording machine is housed in the small "rink-keeper's" shed and is controlled from there. The music is turned off at 9 p.m.

The large "changing" shed has been ready and in use since Christmas. Fitted with benches around all sides, it is equipped with a stove in the center.

Bill Schilling is "deputized" to keep order on the rink as are the rink custodians themselves. It was decided to have someone who can skate to keep order in the skating itself.

Police Chief Urban Trombley said yesterday that if more adults will make use of the rink, the problem of unruly youngsters can be expected to practically disappear.

MUNISING BRIEFS

Mrs. Corra Brueite, who has been visiting with her daughter and son-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. Warren Jolls, at Van Meer, left yesterday for Green Bay, Wis., where she has made her home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Godell are spending the weekend visiting friends in Manitowoc.

Miss Alice Levi is returning to Chicago today after a holiday visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. Virginia Alexander.

Recently a short silent German film strip showing the rise of the Nazi party was shown to students of the high school science classes. The film was a part of a collection of souvenirs a local veteran acquired while in the ETO. The writing on the film strip was in German but the gist of the picture was easily recognized by the students, and those who understood German writings interpreted the script.

WILL ADDRESS CLUB

Munising — Rev. John Forsyth, member of the Presbyterian church, Detroit Office, Board of Christian Education, will address the Munising Presbyterian Men's club at a meeting Monday evening at 7:00 o'clock in the church parlors.

Housing Setup Officials Quit, Dissatisfied With Changes

Washington — (P) — David L. Krooth and Howard F. Vickery, officials in the former Wilson Wyatt federal housing set-up, resigned today in dissatisfaction, friends said, over policies followed since Wyatt stepped out.

The resignations coincided with an order further relaxing controls of housing lumber, millwork and hardwood flooring.

Krooth was general counsel in both NHA and the Expediter's office, and Vickery was information director of both agencies.

Vickery resigned without comment. Krooth made public letters of resignation to housing expeditors Frank R. Creedon and NHA Administrator Raymond M. Foley in which he expressed a desire to return to private law practice.

The lumber rule relaxations result principally from the elimination of new priorities for home-builders.

The principal changes are:

1. Removal of a set-aside requirement except for shop lumber and hardwood flooring.

2. Elimination of provisions requiring production of hardwood flooring lumber. Saw mills are still required to produce 50 per cent housing construction lumber out of their total softwood lumber production.

3. Sawmills and distributors are no longer required to hold housing construction lumber or hardwood flooring lumber for a set period of time, but outstanding priorities must be honored.

4. Allocations to dealers are eliminated except that dealers may use their customers' existing priorities in ordering from mills.

The office of temporary control reported that lumber production in October was 3,354,788,800 board feet, 62.6 per cent above the same month of 1945.

INVISIBLE RAYS

The rays of the sun which are said to be most health-giving have a wave length of from 280 to 320 millionths of a meter, and are invisible to the human eye.

Trout get about two-thirds of their food from the water, and catch the other one-third in the air above the surface.

Winkle" bank accounts ultimately is the state treasuries. The length of time they are allowed to "sleep" ranges from seven years in Oregon to 30 years in Connecticut. If an heir shows up after the money reaches the treasury, however, his chances for claiming the inheritance still are pretty bright.

Every once in a while an individual, who has lived like one of the town's neediest cases, dies (usually of malnutrition) and the people who find the body also find a fortune in the strong box.

One man discovered the name of a rival institution's president on its abandoned list: John Bartram, whose finances never were an ideal solvency, cropped up on a list with $7,500 unclaimed: New York's former mayor, Fiorello La Guardia once read his name in a dormant account, advertisement and alibied: "I've been too busy to bother with it."

One man scrutinized a list looking for his son's name "because she's so flighty" and found his own instead. A destitute mother and daughter, who found the mother's name, had a brilliant after-thought. Upon receipt of cache, the daughter informed the bankers' mother says she remembers now." Ironically, a Quebec bank credited $550 on their list to the account of a dead man who was shot in 1925 holding up the bank.

An expert on these matters has figured out that actors, doctors, and dentists are the most forgetful of deposits and investments. Jim Waters who owns the 10 year old radio program "Court of Missing Heirs" which also is concerned in the topsy-turvy business of finding people for their money, says: "Even in tiny towns you can't find on the map, people leave fabulous fortunes and no legatees."

A man left $400,000 in Paoli, Kansas. The investigators finally located some collateral heirs through the show. The Veterans Administration has turned over to the program the names of 1400 servicemen who died leaving paid up insurance policies which never were claimed.

There is a million dollar case on the books that they've worked on for years. A certain Gabe McElroy, has that fortune coming to him from his father's estate since before World War I. The old man struck oil on his Texas-Louisiana line cotton farm after his son had run away from home.

A FINGER IN THE DYKE

Behind the dyke of public opinion, the American system of private enterprise is still free from the floods of foreign 'isms' that have threatened. Doctors of medicine saw the danger of seeping Socialism (political medicine); they stopped the breach and alerted the people!

But the danger isn't past!

When Congress meets in 1947, the same discredited attempt may be made to introduce socialism into our country through socialized (political) medicine.

Register your approval of the American system—the VOLUNTARY system. Protect your health and the American way of living by joining the non-profit VOLUNTARY plans for medical care sponsored by your doctors of medicine. These plans are today insuring millions of Americans against the costs of serious illness. Michigan alone has 850,000 persons protected under your doctor's plan.

Keep secure the dyke that protects your freedom!

1947 Income Tax Primer

Here Is How to Charge Off Your Business Expenses

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth of 11 authoritative, understandable articles in NEA's ninth annual "Income Tax Primer." Prepared by NEA's recognized authority on income tax problems in consultation with Bureau of Internal Revenue experts, these articles show the wage-earning taxpayer, in step-by-step fashion, how to make out his income tax return.

By S. BURTON HEATH

Washington—(NEA)—Those who are preparing Form 1040, either because they must or in hope of saving money, can use the information on Taxable and Non-Taxable Income; on man-and-wife status, dependents, exemptions; on interest and dividends, contained in the first three articles. They will find other useful material there. Only the fourth article will be of no use to them.

If you are using Form 1040 you have the privilege of deducting from your Compensation for Personal Services (salary, wages, tips, etc.) most of the necessary and customary expenses that you paid out of your own pocket in order to earn your pay, and did not collect from your employer.

The following items may be subtracted from your pay even though you intend to use the Tax Table or take the Standard Deduction; provided you spent the money while traveling away from the city in which you work.

(a) Automobile expenses including gasoline, oil, grease, towing, repairs, tires, depreciation, insurance, garage or parking lot, bridge or parkway tolls, uninsured loss or damage.

License and registration fees should be taken here if you intend to use the Tax Table or the Standard Deduction.

If you use the car partly for business and partly for personal driving, charge only the business portion of such expenses. The simplest way is to divide them according to the number of miles driven for each purpose, as illustrated by the example that accompanies this article.

A salesman's automobile is depreciated 33 per cent a year, ordinarily.

J. I. Case Contract Rejected By Union At Racine Factory

Racine, Wis. (AP)—Local 180, UAW-CIO, rejected the J. I. Case company's latest contract offer, seeking an end to the 53-week old strike.

The company earlier today offered its 3,300 employees at its main plant here a contract similar to that accepted by the Case union at Rockford, Ill., ending a strike there.

Harvey Kitzman, president of the striking local, said the "company offer is not acceptable to the union." He declared the union insisted on full compliance with the recent National Labor Relations Board order and said the Rockford agreement did not comply with NLRB orders in the same situation.

(b) Baggage charges, including insurance.

(c) Expenses of attending business conventions required by your employment.

(d) Expenses of displaying samples, etc., if you are a salesman.

(e) Fares—bus, plane, railroad, taxicab, etc., including Pullman charges and federal tax on tickets.

(f) Lodging and meals.

(g) Public Stenographer.

(h) Telephone and Telegraph.

(i) Tips, including checking and porters' fees.

Miscellaneous Deductions

Some miscellaneous deductions will be discussed in the ninth article. But here is the place to mention a list of those that actually are business expenses, yet must be taken under the miscellaneous heading, if at all.

These include the pay of assistants; accident insurance while traveling; dues and assessments and initiation fees to labor unions, dues and initiation fees to professional societies or to athletic, fraternal, social and country clubs when your employer requires you to belong or if you can prove that you belong solely for business reasons; entertainment of customers to promote specific deals—not just for good!

Business Expenses

During the year I did some traveling for my employer away from Sandy Hook, using my own car.

The car cost $1550 in 1945. Depreciation for the year, at 20%, amounted to $310. I drove 12,542 miles on business and 2,398 miles in personal use, so I have allocated 84% of joint costs to business use.

State tax on gasoline for personal use is charged separately. For business use it is included in the cost of the gasoline charged below.

The following expenses were for business:

Depreciation on auto (84%)	$260.40
Gasoline (84%)	174.98
Oil (84%)	10.25
Repairs and tires (84%)	48.35
Garage rent on road	47.00
Hotel rooms	246.00
Meals on road	294.00
Tips, checking, etc.	56.85
Telephone and Telegraph	35.80
Insurance on Car (84%)	37.30
Car Registration	18.00
Driver's License	1.50
Parkway and Bridge tolls	10.70
Total Expenditures	$1241.63
Reimbursed by employer	780.00
Paid by me, net	$ 461.63

John Doe travels for his employer—out of town. He gets a flat $15-a-week allowance toward expenses. Here he explains, in a schedule attached to his Form 1040 return, the $461.63 net, of expenses that he is deducting from salary in Item 2, page 1. (He could not deduct this if he filed a Withholding Statement. If the traveling were in and around Sandy Hook he could not charge these items against salary.)

Doe also spent $153.25 entertaining customers, $12 for trade magazines, $8.85 for Christmas gifts to customers, and $60 for a year-around garage of which 84% is deductible. These are business expenses but must be charged as miscellaneous deductions on page 3—so he loses them if he uses the tax table or the standard deduction.

MANISTIQUE

HEARING ON
HARBOR MONDAYNeed For Deepening Of
Harbor To Be Discussed

Deepening of the Manistique harbor, generally conceded here to be a badly needed improvement, will be up for consideration at a public meeting in the court house on Monday morning at 11 o'clock. Colonel J. O. Colonna, of the district army engineers corps at Milwaukee, Wis., will be present to hear matters touching on the local harbor and on this hearing will depend the acceptance or rejection of the local plea that the harbor be deepened.

Seriously concerned over an unsatisfactory state of the harbor, revealed last summer when a coal carrier went aground and when the ship owners gave notice that the company would permit no more of its ships to enter the harbor until the situation was improved, various civic and municipal bodies have taken action to acquaint the government with the importance of the harbor to the area and the serious need for improvement.

Through the Manistique-Schoolcraft Chamber of Commerce data covering all phases touching on the harbor has been compiled and will be presented at the meeting. Local residents who are directly interested in the proposition are also expected to speak in behalf of harbor deepening.

Of utmost importance, directors of the Chamber of Commerce declare, is the presence of a large delegation of business people at the meeting. The army engineer, in a previous letter, stated that the expense involved in harbor deepening would be considerable and for that reason the need for the improvement would have to be definitely proved before action by the government would be assured. A good attendance at the meeting would be impressive evidence of local interest in the matter, Leonard Mulhaupt, C. of C. secretary, stated.

Dr. A. R. Tucker's
Condition Serious

Dr. A. R. Tucker, who recently entered the Veterans' hospital at Dearborn, is in very serious condition, suffering from a number of complications that are slowing his recovery, according to his daughter, Miss Alice Tucker who recently returned to Dearborn where she spent a week with him.

The doctor, however, is finding the company of veteran patients very congenial and the numerous letters and Christmas greetings has helped greatly to overcome his homesickness which is almost as acute as his physical ailment.

Pilots Shot Safely
From Jet Airplanes

BY WATSON DAVIS

Boston (SS)—Two living men have already been safely shot from a P-61 airplane flying at approximately 300 miles per hour in tests of the Army's ejector for enabling pilots to clear jet aircraft in emergencies. Dr. Henry M. Sweeney, chief of the biophysics branch of the Aero Medical Laboratory at Wright Field, revealed at the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science here this afternoon.

A pilot must leave the cockpit at a velocity of approximately 60 feet per second to clear the tail of our aircraft at full speed. Information gained shortly after V-E Day on German methods of ejecting men from jet aircraft could not be applied completely as our aircraft had a central vertical stabilizer on the tail, rather than a split tail, and traveled at a greater speed.

Rocket power and compressed air were considered for the propelling force but powder charges were finally selected because of smaller weight and less area of vulnerability to enemy gunfire.

The gun now in use is three feet in tube length but developed a five-foot stroke by its telescopic action. Arm rests on the pilot's seat are used to reduce the force applied to the lower part of the spine resulting from the acceleration. The seat cushion is reduced to a minimum and the pilot must assume proper posture for safe ejection. The tests Dr. Sweeney reported showed that under these conditions a 45-foot per second velocity charge developing from about 12 g on the seat to as high as 30 g on the hip can be ridden safely for very brief periods.

A prehistoric palace, said to be more than 4000 years old, was found at Tepe Hissar; in Persia.

World's highest officially-recognized temperature is 136 degrees, at Aziza, Libya, North Africa, in 1922.

HARBOR MONDAY

Need For Deepening Of Harbor To Be Discussed

Deepening of the Manistique harbor, generally conceded here to be a badly needed improvement, will be up for consideration at a public meeting in the court house on Monday morning at 11 o'clock. Colonel J. O. Colonna, of the district army engineers corps at Milwaukee, Wis., will be present to hear matters touching on the local harbor and on this hearing will depend the acceptance or rejection of the local plea that the harbor be deepened.

Seriously concerned over an unsatisfactory state of the harbor, revealed last summer when a coal carrier went aground and when the ship owners gave notice that the company would permit no more of its ships to enter the harbor until the situation was improved, various civic and municipal bodies have taken action to acquaint the government with the importance of the harbor to the area and the serious need for improvement.

Through the Manistique-Schoolcraft Chamber of Commerce data covering all phases touching on the harbor has been compiled and will be presented at the meeting. Local residents who are directly interested in the proposition are also expected to speak in behalf of harbor deepening.

Of utmost importance, directors of the Chamber of Commerce declare, is the presence of a large delegation of business people at the meeting. The army engineer, in a previous letter, stated that the expense involved in harbor deepening would be considerable and for that reason the need for the improvement would have to be definitely proved before action by the government would be assured. A good attendance at the meeting would be impressive evidence of local interest in the matter, Leonard Mulhaupt, C. of C. secretary, stated.

Boston (SS)—Two living men have already been safely shot from a P-61 airplane flying at approximately 300 miles per hour in tests of the Army's ejector for enabling pilots to clear jet aircraft in emergencies. Dr. Henry M. Sweeney, chief of the biophysics branch of the Aero Medical Laboratory at Wright Field, revealed at the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science here this afternoon.

A pilot must leave the cockpit at a velocity of approximately 60 feet per second to clear the tail of our aircraft at full speed. Information gained shortly after V-E Day on German methods of ejecting men from jet aircraft could not be applied completely as our aircraft had a central vertical stabilizer on the tail, rather than a split tail, and traveled at a greater speed.

Zone Golden Gloves Tourney To Be Held At Manistique Monday

FAST ACTION ASSURED FANS

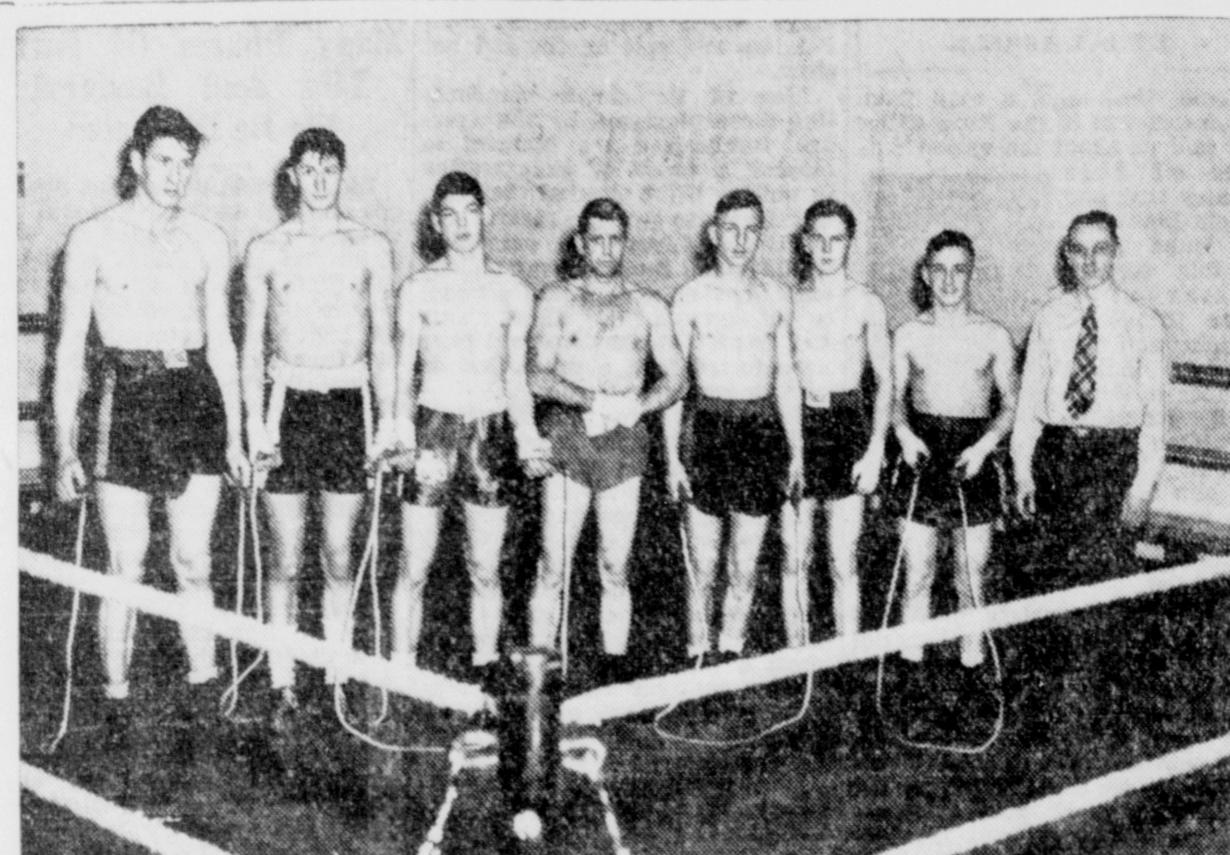

Approximately 20 Boys Competing In Boxing Show

The Delta-Schooncraft sub-regional Golden Gloves tournament, opening the amateur boxing season in the Upper Peninsula, will be held Monday night, Jan. 6, at the junior high school gymnasium in Manistique. A group of upwards of 20 boxers will participate in the matches, which will get under way at eight o'clock, eastern standard time, which is seven o'clock, Delta county time.

REPORT AT 1:30
Escanaba boxers will report at Dewey's Service Station at 1:30 Monday ready to leave for Manistique. Transportation will be furnished by the local boxing committee and all expenses of the boxers will also be borne by the group. The boys will have lunch after weighing in and there will be dinner after the matches Monday night. The group will return to Escanaba Monday night.

Originally pegged for two nights, Monday and Tuesday, the sub-regional tournament at Manistique has been revised to concentrate all of the amateur boxing talent in a big one night show, with the result that a capacity crowd of fight fans will be on hand for the show. Reserved seat tickets have been selling rapidly, but the seating capacity of the Manistique gym has been enlarged for this show by the addition of new eight-tier bleachers, secured from the Escanaba recreation department.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The decision to restrict the sub-regional Golden Gloves boxing tournament in Manistique to a single night, Monday, Jan. 6, was made Friday evening after a careful analysis of the entry list showed that a two-night tournament would be detrimental to the development of amateur boxing in Manistique. In effect, the decision to concentrate on one big night is a good break for boxing fans because they will see a thrill-packed tournament show at a single admission price. Tickets already sold for Tuesday night will be redeemed by the boxing committee in Manistique.

The U. P. Golden Gloves finals tournament at Escanaba, tentatively scheduled for three nights, Jan. 27-28 and Feb. 3, probably will be reduced to two nights, Jan. 27 and Jan. 28, for the same reason that a retrenchment was ordered in the Manistique zone tournament. Final decision on this point will be made by the executive committee in the next few days. The fear of spreading too thinly, both in the matter of entries and in fan attendance, is recognized. At least one and possibly two of the zone tournaments that were originally planned in the U. P. will not be held. Ironwood has cancelled plans for its zone tournament due to lack of entries and Iron Mountain may do likewise.

Jim Manci, Iron Mountain, and Buck Jackson, Manistique, will referee the bouts.

Basketball League Elects Officers

Officers of the Escanaba city basketball league were elected at a meeting held last night. Stan Jensen of Tom Swift's is president. Jim Paine of the Gladstone Lions vice president and Ray Bennett of the Escanaba Obers is secretary-treasurer.

Tuesday night was set as the deadline for team managers to submit their official lineups for the season, and after that players will be frozen on the team where they are registered, with no shifts permitted.

The results of the first three weeks in the Escanaba city basketball league find the V. F. W. and the Swift's Bar of Bark River undefeated. St. Ann C. Y. O. although at the bottom of the standings lost their last two games by heartbreaking close ones.

Results to date:

WAR AGAINST GERMS WAGED

Isolation Is New Step Toward Conquest Of Malaria

BY DR. FRANK THONE

Boston (SS)—New steps toward the conquest of malaria are being taken through better knowledge of the germ disease that cause it.

Scientists consider the fight against germ disease half won when they can get the germs to grow outside the human or animal body in laboratory flask or test tubes. With the enemy thus isolated, they can study its weak points and plan defenses and counter attacks.

Four reports of initial success in these tactics of isolation were reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science here. Dr. William Trager of the Princeton Laboratories of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research and Dr. Q. M. Geiman and associates of Harvard University told how they have succeeded in getting two different species of malaria parasites to live and multiply in red blood cells suspended in synthetic substitutes for blood plasma. This enables them to determine what food substances the germs must have by withholding one or another of them and watching what happens.

Dr. G. H. Ball of the University of California at Los Angeles told of his work from the other end of the line. He is undertaking to isolate the phase of the same germ that lives in the carrier mosquitoes in an endeavor to find out what their chemical and physical requirements are.

At Rutgers University Dr. A. L. Stauben and associates are at work on the task of getting living germs out of their shelters inside the red blood cells. Thus far they have not succeeded, the enemy apparently preferring death to capture. Nevertheless they have been able to secure them so newly dead that useful information can be obtained from their still-limp corpses.

Rio Prepares For February Carnival

BY HOYT WARE
(P) Newsfeatures

Rio de Janeiro—Preparations for Rio's 1947 carnival, which will be held about mid-February, are under way with several new sambas.

The rhythmic beat of jungle drums from the hills around this South American capital can already be heard at night as various "samba schools" hold sessions in the summer moonlight.

Three new songs appear to be destined as "hits" for the coming carnival. They are "Homem, Nao" ("No, Man!"), "Gilda" (from the Rita Hayworth film of the same name) and "Obrigado," General" ("Thank You General").

The theme of the samba "Homem, Nao" tells the story of an old sailing ship on which the galley slaves and entire crew are beautiful girls. A tough old pirate with a wooden leg and a glass eye tries to board the ship, but the girls toss him into the sea.

The samba "Obrigado, General" is dedicated to President Eurico Gaspar Dutra, former War Minister and army general. The song expresses the appreciation of the people for the opening of the park where carnival frolics traditionally were held until a few years ago.

Carnival in Rio consists of three days and nights of rhythmic bedlam. Nobody works by day and nobody sleeps at night. The streets, tram cars and public parks are full of dancing throngs for three days and nights until the whole city tires itself out.

The Lenten season follows carnival, and not a sound of a samba is heard in the streets until the following year.

Chicago Hep Cats
Take Sibelius And Mozart With Jive

AP Newsfeatures

Chicago — Youngsters of the swing age go for Sibelius, too.

Every other Tuesday during the winter, 2,582 of them, 16 years old or younger, fill all the seats in Orchestra Hall, and listen to the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

These young people's concerts originated here Nov. 20, 1919, and have been presented every season since then. During those 27 years, the public fancy has been caught, in turn, by everything from jazz to jive, but the boys and girls have continued to come out to hear Haydn, Mozart, Strauss, Tchaikovsky and other great perennials.

Tall, gray, dignified Rudolph Ganz, the current conductor, has directed children's concerts in 75 American cities. He was a bit flustered the first time a small voice piped "Atta boy, Uncle Rudy," but he has gained a fine appreciation and understanding of juvenile audiences.

"I never 'talk down' to the children, never compromise," Ganz says. "Their understanding and appreciation of good music are lifted to the plane of the music itself. We do not try to bring it down to them."

Accident

Martin and Frank Kousbaugh were the victims of an accident early on the morning of New Year's day. The men with Roland Bramer had just left Kousbaugh with Bramer's horse pulling a toboggan loaded to go and lift gill nets near the company farm. As they passed the Bramer house, the horse, who is a high spirited animal, got scared and made a start upsetting the men. The accident occurred near a light post and Martin Kousbaugh was thrown and hit the post, dislocating his shoulder and breaking his leg below the hip. Frank Kousbaugh suffered three broken ribs while Roland Bramer was thrown in the snow but escaped injury. Dr. Ware was called to the Kousbaugh home and ordered Martin and Frank to the St. Francis hospital. Frank Kousbaugh was released the same day but Martin Kousbaugh will be confined there for some time. It was necessary to perform an operation on the leg on Friday before it could be set properly.

Personal

Miss Margaret Hill, student nurse at St. Luke's hospital at Marquette, visited on Wednesday and Thursday at the Lew Bramer home.

Donald Maynard, who is employed in Gary, Ind. arrived before New Year's to visit with his family at the Leo Cousineau home.

Mr. and Mrs. Girard Deloria and family of Manistique spent the past few days visiting at the Antone Deloria home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lester and family of Van's Harbor were New Years Day guests at the Amos and Kenneth Ritter homes.

New Years Day guests at the Victor Thibault home were Mr. and Mrs. Cal Cunningham and family of Gladstone and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Krutina and daughter Mary.

Dr. Andy Nowakowski and Mrs. Eddie Lund arrived on the "400" from Elgin, Ill. on Wednesday night. Mrs. Lund will visit at the Martin Kousbaugh home until Sunday while Dr. Nowakowski returned to Elgin on Thursday morning. They were called by Martin Kousbaugh's accident early on Wednesday.

Misses Carol Berg and Shirley Brazeau of Escanaba were guests over New Year's day at the James Krutina home.

Traunik

Alice Mikalich has returned to Detroit where she attends Marygrove college after having spent the holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Makalich.
